How far you go in life depends on your being tender with the young, compassionate with the aged, sympathetic with the striving and tolerant of the weak and the strong. Because someday in life you will have been all of these.

~ George Washington Carver

Today's Affirmation

I think, feel, and live compassionately

Prayer for Today

Dear God,

I am amazed at how the smallest amount of compassion for another human being can open up my heart.

Reaching out to others, even in silent prayer, moves me beyond myself.

God, I am grateful for your compassion in me through the ups and downs of my life situations.

I am grateful to be a channel for that compassion to touch every soul I encounter.

Thank you, God.

Amen
